THE PARKE PACIFIC MEMORIAL GOLF TOURNAMENT

Why it matters

Parkinson's disease is the second most common neurodegenerative disorder after Alzheimer's, affecting more than 100,000 people in Canada. It occurs when dopamine-producing cells in the brain stop working properly, leading to movement challenges, tremors, and other symptoms.

While there is no cure, interventions like medication, exercise, and specialized therapies can help manage symptoms and improve quality of life. Parkinson Society British Columbia provides education, advocacy, and support to help those affected by PD live well.

Join us for The 2nd Annual Agnes Parke Memorial Golf Tournament where every swing makes a difference! All proceeds will go to Parkinson Society British Columbia, supporting critical research, resources, and care for those affected by Parkinson's disease. Let's tee off for a great cause!
