ABOUT THE CAUSE

THE BRIDGE HEALING PROGRAM

Edmonton's unhoused population has more than doubled since 2020. Each year, the Royal Alexandra Hospital treats thousands of emergency department patients experiencing homelessness.

Too often, people are discharged from hospital with nowhere safe to go. Without stable housing, recovery becomes difficult and many individuals return to the emergency department again and again.

The Bridge Healing Program, created through a partnership between the Royal Alexandra Hospital Foundation and the Jasper Place Wellness Centre, provides transitional housing and support for patients leaving hospital without stable housing. By offering a safe place to recover and access services, the program helps people move from crisis toward stability.

The program is currently operating at over 100% occupancy, demonstrating the urgent need for safe healing spaces in our community.

By providing safe housing and wrap-around supports, Bridge Healing is helping improve health outcomes for vulnerable patients while relieving pressure on our healthcare system.

IMPACT AND RESULTS

The Bridge Healing Program is already making a meaningful difference in Edmonton. Program outcomes include:

- Hundreds of patients supported and counting
- Over 100% occupancy, demonstrating strong demand for healing beds
- 40% reduction in emergency department visits
- $16,000–$24,000 in annual healthcare savings per patient

Beyond these measurable results, the program improves community health, housing stability, and quality of life—helping people rebuild their lives with dignity and hope.

OUR COMMITMENT

With the support of generous sponsors and participants, the Qualico Links for Life has helped raise more than $350,000 for the Bridge Healing Program.

As Qualico celebrates its 75th anniversary, we remain committed to supporting initiatives that strengthen our communities and help create pathways to stability and healing.
